of rocks, as many geographers have described it is, on the contrary, a valley, from four to thirteen

miles in width, and scattered over with conical

hights of from twenty to sixty feet elevation,

which on the east and west rest upon low chains varying from 110 to 415 feet in hight. Among these small conical hights wind in all direction va rious streams and rivers, which descend from the termination of the Andes and unite in two principal channels. The one, which is the river Chagres, throws itself into the Carribbean Sea; the other, called the Rio Grande, flows toward the Pacific Ocean. The dividing country between these rivers has an elevation of only thirty-seven feet above the highest known level of the sea, or sixty four feet above low tides; the flood tides

sometimes attaining a hight of twenty-seven feet.

This Kamraun, since, put to death his Vizier, Futteh Khan, in fit of jealousy. Upon this the brothers of the Vi zier rebelled, and succeeded in gaining possession of a great part of the Affshan empire. British troops were now introduced into the country .-Their alliance was courted by Shah Kamraun, prince as weak as cruel, or by his uncle Shah Shooja, and the proposed object has been to resist the just indignation of the brothers of the Vizier and to reinstate the authority of the ancient monarch. In 1828 this country was penetrated by a British gentleman named Stirling, who gave it as his opinion that a European army would meet with insuperable difficulties in attempting to invade the Affghan territories. Our facts are chiefly gained from the notes of Lieut. Burns, who made a similar journey two or three years afterward.

THE SPIRIT OF SEVENTY-SIX .- A correspondent at Ballston Spa writes as follows: "Of course we are beaten. I took John W. Taylor to Ballston Centre, in the severe storm, to vote. Poor palsied old man! As we were lifting him from the carriage in the drenching rain, and after he had reached the porch, so that he could, by the help of a crutch, rest upon the one sound leg, and then made an effort to drag the palsied limb after him through a crowd of gaping, rabid Loco-Focos, and deposited his vote-it was truly an affecting sight. This venerable old Congressman making one of the last efforts of his life to ride eight miles through a pelt ing storm to do the little, the all he could do, to deposit, probably his last vote in favor of principles which he believed to be the foundation of his country's welfare. As we moved slowly through the crowd, I heard an individual say, " Well, the old man is pluck to the last !""

Let the degenerated Whigs of this State read the above and blush for their want of energy in allowing a few drops of rain to keep them from the polls. One true Whig, like the Hon. John W. PEAD THIS.—Having been afflicted for the last 10 or 12 years with a complication of diseases which confined me to my house and bed a great pertion of the time, my stomach extremely weak and sore, violent pains in my side, my strength exhausted, and, in fact, reduced to such a degree that life seemed to be nearly extinct. I was invited by Dr. Starkweather, and by his advice commenced the use of his medicines—but was so weak and debilitated that I could take but half the usual dose of the Hepatic Elixir. I had taken so much medicine previously that I had no faith or confidence in any thing that bore the name of medicine. However, I continued the use of the Hepatic Elixir, in half doses, for one week, when I began to feel its beneficial effects; I was then directed to increase the dose, which I found I could easily bear, and to the utter astonishment of myself and triends, I was soon able to leave my bed, and in a lew weeks was able to ride 30 miles in one day, which I could not have done before at any time in ten years past. I can now do my work about house, and feel perfectly well. I feel truly grateful to the Doctor, for his prescriptions, and succerely believe the use of his Elixir has restrictions, and succerely believe the use of his Elixir has restrictions, and succerely believe the use of his Elixir has restricted all who are suffering with bilious diseases to go and do likewise, and they may rest assured that they will derive as much benefit from it as I have done. I believe Dr Starkweather's Hepatic Elixer to be a truly valuable medicine.

DARR'S PILLS .-- From Mr. Noble,

Bookseller, Boston: "Boston, August 15, 1842.
"To the Proprietors of Parr's Life Pills: Gentlemen-Having heard of the extraordinary and unexpected cure of my firing Mr. Somerville, by the use of Parr's Life Pills, I applied to him for the purticulars of his case, which he has kindly furnished. To bis very lucid and striking statements (which I encl. 86) I can add nothing: they speak for themselves. But I may observe, that on his leaving Lincolnshire it was the decided impression of all his friends, both in Boston and Stamtord, where he is well known, that his recovery was entirely hopeless—in fact that he was just noth in Boston and Stanford, where he is wen allowed, its recovery was entirely hopeless—in fact that he was just going home to die, his appearance every way indicating going nome to die, his appearance every way ancienting an advanced stage of consumption.

"Please to send me 100 dozen boxes of Parr's Pills, small, and 20 dozen large, as my stock is again low. I perceive my safe since last August has been 18,308 boxes!

"Gentlemen, yours, faithfully. John Noells,
"Wholesale and retail Agent, Boston."

From Mr. Peter Somerville, of Helensburgh, near Edinburgh, addressed to Mr. John Noble, Bookseller Bellincoloshire owne Cottage, Helensburgh, Aug. 13, 1842.

My Dear Mr. Noble: Your kind letter I duly received, and would have answered it immediately, but for a circumstant of the company of stance I have delayed until now. I can assure you nothing gives me more pleasure than to beer witness to all and sundry, the real, and, I am now satisfied, the lasting good I have received from the use of rarr's Life Pills. Some of through them, urged me strongly to make my case known o encourage others afflicted with coughs, &c., to give them a trial; and I was glad to receive from you the same request, as you will be able to manage it for me. I am rather at a loss lest I should fail in giving full justice to the effi-ciency of these Pills over all the medicines I have tried for ciency of these Pills over all the medicines I have tried for my complaint, and you know I have now had nearly two years trial of medical prescriptions for my cough and liability to catch colds, without being one whit better, but I helieve worse; and the last physician I consulted laughed at my ignorance when I asked himbit there was nothing In physic that would operate as a pleventive against taking cold. He shook his bead and said: No, no; there is no such medicine.' Now, if he had been acquainted with Parr's Life Pills, he would have said; "ves, yes; there is such a thing;" and instead of record mending snake-root and leciand moss, he would have recommended them as an effectual medicine for cough, pluerisy and spitting of blood, for that was the three-fold form of my complaint. The cough had become so troublesome that my sleep was notion by continued fits of coughing; my liability to cold and inflammation was so great that a change in the weather, or a walk, or any little exertion, would lay me up, and the usual routine of fasting, purging and blistering had to be resorted to. This I had four times in the course of two months, and then speaking aloud or reading aloud made me anoths, and then speaking aloud or reading aloud made me great deal worse, and my strength was so lar gone that my little exertion in walking or working was quite suffi-ient for me. Now look at the change! Before I bad taken wo small boxes of the Pills, my strength was so far recov red that I commenced to work ten hours a day, and carcely ever felt wearied, and have done so for these five reeks past; and then as to there being a preventive against cold, I may just mention that the place I went to work in was a school-house, just building; the roof was on it, but as yet there were none of the windows in it, and the draught was very great, more especially as I had never before wrought under such circumstances; yet I wrought, and am till working there without having taken cold that way. When I began to take Parr's Pills, I gave up at the same when the gan to take rair's risk; igue up at the same time the use of tea and coffee, which I believe helped me greatly in getting rid of my complaint. I am fully satisfied the use of tea, especially, is a very bad thing for a cough, as I always found my cough much worse after taking tea. The great good that I have derived from Part's Pills may be summed up in a few words:

"Pirst, they increased my strength; all other medicines thad a weakening effect upon me but then. I take three, four, and semetimes five pils every twenty-four hours, and instead of being weakened by them, they rather in their operation revive the animal spirits and impart lasting departs to the health of the semeth in the lasting

Thirdly, they healed the spating of olodi, and changed completely the nature of the expectoration. This was previously so had that the doctors agreed from this that my lungs were diseased; and the last advice I got from the doctor was, 'You must take great care of yourself, for your lungs are affected.' Now, whether my lungs are affected or not, I do not pretend to judge, but this I say, that by the use of Parr's Life Pills these two bad symptoms are removed.

A PER CYPLONS OF THE LIVED

A FFECTIONS OF THE LIVER.—

Every invalid should read and reflect, if they desire a restoration to health.—I venture to affirm, says an eminent writer, that the grandsource of health and disease is connected with the natural or disordered function of the liver, and that every chronic or lingering illness arises from some defect there. Chronic Hepatitis the most frequent form of the disease in this country, is slow in its progressive stages. The organ of strack will be for years suffering under the standard of the patient the abarming state under which be is laboring; any transient liadisposition he imputes to a different cause, never suspecting that the liver leading affected is the latent source of these disturbed preserves to take the necessary precautions to guard against this insidious enemy to his repose. The symptons of the disease are often slight and telt for a considerable time, such as fulness after meals, accompanied by oppression, a feeling of vacuity at the pit of the stomach, the mind beeeling of vacuity at the pit of the stomach, the mind be comes irritable, memory defective, incapacity for mental exertion prevails, the appetite becomes variable, tongue turred, mouth claiming, taste vittated, slight noise causes a start, sleep disturbed with frightful dreams, occasionally an ob use pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, cramp or spasms is often experienced, and nervous twitching of the muscles and aching pain of the limb, nervous or sick headache is generally caused by it. It often appears in the form of cough, ashthma, &c. as diseased state of the liver, either by sympathy or pressure induces a derangement of the functions of the lings and occasions these disorders. By changing the morbid state of the liver, the irritation of the lungs immediately gives way. The liver is indeed connection, primarily or secondarily, as cause or effect, with various diseases of the head as well as other parts of the system. start, sleep disturbed with frightful dreams, occasion or effect, with various diseases of the head as well as other parts of the system.

From these views, then, there can be no doubt that the disorders of the liver are of the first importance, and every effort used to remedy them should be conducted on rational principles, and by timely and efficient attention and the use of the most proper medicines, many very serious censequences may be prevented, which too often are entailed on the constitution by procrastination.

As a remedy peculiarly adapted to the cure of liver affections, Dr. Starkweather's Hepatic Elixir has preved to be the most patent and efficacious, and every day's experience confirms more positively this assertion. It is candidly believed that no preparation has ever been before the public that has met with such unexampled approbation from distinguished sources, distinguished judges, and greater amount of suffering has been mitigated and more cures permanently effected lients as this medicine, and a greater amount of suffering has been mitigated and more cures permanently effected by it than any other medicine extant.

So confident is the proprietor of its curative properties in every case, that when the medicine is used according to his directions and the patient is not satisfied or convinced, after using one bottle, that it has produced a beneficial effect, his agents are authorised to refund the money paid for it on return of the emnty bottle.
